NESTI DANTE from Florence, with love & care “Not the biggest, but the best”

NESTI DANTE ITALIAN SOAPS are made with love and care by Nesti Dante in Florence, Italy. Pure vegetable soap made with active and organic ingredients. Luxurious, handcrafted soaps inspired by the beautiful region of Florence made with enchanting perfumes from the hills of Tuscany beautifully packaged in elegant Florentine style paper.

NESTI DANTE soaps (saponi) are prepared respecting the age-old tradition of the true Italian 'Saponeria' the cauldron method. Nesti Dante remains one of only a few companies in the world that continues to use the handcraft method of saponification. They follow the traditional process of boiling in a cauldron, which takes several days along with the continual assistance of master soapmakers and perfumers to monitor the various phases of the production process (saponification, washing, liquidation, decantation and extraction from special vacuum driers). These soaps are made with selected high quality raw materials without synthetic surfactants, which are responsible for allergies and irritation of the skin, hair and eyes. This recipe for success is completed by the exquisite refinement of the packaging with attention paid to even the tiniest detail. Over half a century of commitment, highlighted by the objectives of excellence of its founder: “We will always work not to be the biggest, but to be the best.”

*Saponification is a chemical process in soap making that combines a fat source (either animal or vegetable) and an alkali (acid). Vegetable fat source is of higher quality value than animal fat source!
